Friday, August 3, 2007

The Los Angeles Film School's Staff and Faculty welcome you to the Graduation Screening* for the class of August 2006.

This screening showcases the culmination of a year filled with hard work, dedication, drive and passion. The films—from independent projects and demo reels to final Thesis films—exhibit the immense talent, proficiency and creative acumen of these students. The images in their films are lush, the subject matters diverse and the stories compelling.

Everyone at The Los Angeles Film School congratulates the wonderful and talented students that comprise our August 2006 graduating class!

We hope you enjoy the show!

*Please be aware that The Los Angeles Film School does not censor our students' films, therefore some material may not be suitable for all viewers. Also, please note that while we do attempt to list the films in screening order, circumstances beyond our control may cause the order to differ from that which is listed here.

STEAM VENTS
Steam vents are scattered over this fault-bounded block that has partially slumped into Kilauea Caldera. Rainwater sinks through the ground and is heated by rocks which carry heat from the liquid rock below. Hot water then rises through fissures to condense in the chilled air.
The grassy landscape nearby suggests that soil temperatures are too high for trees to survive easily.

The Legend of Twin Rocks
The village of Kahali'i was located on this large point of land which extends into Onomea Bay. Though the village is gone, the descendants of Kahali'i still remember some of the legends concerning the area's landmarks. One story tells of the origin of two rock formations at the head of Onomea Bay that are said to be a young man and woman, known as the lovers of Kahali'i.
Legend has it that one day, a chief of the village spotted many canoes with sails heading shoreward in their direction. Fearing an attack, the chiefs and village elders held a council to determine a course of action. They decided to build a reef to prevent a landing on their beaches. Not having the means to complete the task quickly enough, they asked for two young lovers to be the guides and protectors of the village by giving their lives. Two willing individuals were found.
That night a decree was sent to all who lived at Kahali'i to remain indoors from sunset to sunrise without making any light or sound, on penalty of death. In the light of the new day, everyone went down to the shoreline where they were amazed to find the lovers gone, and in their place two gigantic rock formations at the entrance of the Bay, attached to each other, as if on guard.
The chief informed the people that no canoe could now pass the treacherous currents swirling around the rocks unless allowed to do so by the guardians. The lovers and their offspring still stand today, sentinels at the head of the Bay.

Service Above Self

At the Podium - ANN PETERSON, PATH

PATH was formed in 1986 to provide traffic safety education and a safe environment on roadways and trails for recreation, fitness and alternative modes of transportation. Ann C. Peterson, current secretary for PATH, will provide an update on the organization's activities.

Ann C. Peterson has a Masters degree from Michigan State University - While at the university she was the council of graduate student's rep on the "All University Traffic Council" -- (at 45,000, the population of MSU is larger than Kona the districts.) While on council the university did a two-years comprehensive traffic study, where she had the opportunity to learn much of the philosophy she uses today. She served as a Traffic Commissioner for the city of East Lansing, and was on the Linear Park steering committee in my home town of Battle Creek.

She moved to Kona in 1994 from Takasaki, Japan where she was the "sister city liaison" for three years. She joined KTSC (Kona Traffic Safety Committee) 8 years ago, and was elected chair 6 years ago. She has been the Educational Programs & Development Director at the Kona Historical Society, and has served as the VP for Public Relations for Kona Outdoor Circle and is presently the Secretary for PATH. She has also been a special events coordinator for Ironman, and helped with the Daniel Sayre Memorial Fundraiser which raises funds to purchase much needed rescue equipment for the County's Fire Department.

Just Last Week - ANNE GOODY - Interact Club and STRIVE by William Moore Jr.

Anne Goody opened the club presentation with a short discussion of STRIVE, Kona Rotary's program of opening doors for selected students at Kealakehe High School; that they might learn other things they can do beyond high school: "These are bright wonderful people who have bright wonderful futures". She encouraged members to mentor these students; to spend time with them in their businesses and daily activities. She then introduced the current officers of Kealakehe Rotary Interact Club who shared the club's recent accomplishments and activities.

They are still supporting two orphanages in India and a check for $1020 was recently sent to help with the influx of new orphans following the tsunami; they plan to send a total of $5000 this year. Other programs include: making caps for children and women at the Compassion PregnancyCenter; Best Citizen Awards with goody bags for students picked from each class; a tee shirt design contest; recent camp for the 30 top interact club members; WaveRider discount cards as a fund raiser; cookie baking for mentally ill; Teacher Appreciation Week and birthday cards; monthly "Meet and Eat" dinners; highway cleanup and a host of other service projects and fundraising activities to support their orphanage and community projects.

FINANCIAL PLANNING

ALOHA! It is not only our name, it is our promise to you. Aloha Insurance Services is dedicated to providing Hawaii's business community and families with an avenue to excellent insurance carriers, risk management and customer service.

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Well, it has been a little over four years since we opened our doors as Aloha Insurance Services and a little short of fifteen years for me in Kuakini Tower. The construction of our new building is well underway, and with a little luck, we should make the move to our permanent home by the first of the year. We are currently "bursting at the seams" with a remarkable office staff and account executives to serve your needs.

In an ongoing effort to maintain our "cutting edge" position in the insurance marketplace, we are constantly upgrading and, when necessary, replacing old systems. For example, we are moving to become paperless through the use of high-speed scanners and a barcoded software system.

In today's environment, where time is such a crucial factor, our new paperless filing system has proven to be invaluable in reducing the time it takes to find something and get back you in a timely fashion. In addition, we are acutely aware that we are not the only business who is currently very busy in this growth environment and we try hard to return each and every one of our phone calls by the close of work each day.

The insurance market is also in a constant state of change, and we make every effort to keep abreast of those changes that will inevitably affect your coverages and bottom lines.

Our commitment to you is to provide you with the best service and coverages, along with competitive pricing.

Mahalo for your confidence in our team of professionals.
